Devotional thought

Have you ever picked up the phone, dialled yourself, and had a nice, long conversation? No? That's probably because it takes two to carry on a phone conversation. That's kind of like how teamwork works. There are times when doing something together makes a lot more sense than trying to do it alone. It could be cleaning your house, playing a game, solving a puzzle or even practicing your faith. Some things are always better with teamwork.

There are lots of places in the Bible where God reminds us that we're not alone and that he likes it when we rely on others and work together. He didn't put us on earth to do things alone. He gave us lots of good company! Everyone benefits when we work together to get things done, and everyone—no matter how old or how young—can be part of that. God reminds us that we each have a different role and every role is important. When we work together, we can accomplish more. Working as a team means we're not alone and we can use our special talents to achieve really great things together.

Ecclesiastes 4:9-10

<sup>9</sup> Two are better off than one, because together they can work more effectively. <sup>10</sup> If one of them falls down, the other can help him up. But if someone is alone and falls, it's just too bad, because there is no one to help him.

From the editor...

When I was thinking of a theme for this edition of @Glynde, I was struggling to find something. I was chatting to Mum about it and together we came up with a theme... TEAMWORK! How appropriate that we used the theme to come up with a theme!

I have played netball for years, since I was young, and I love watching the professionals in the Suncorp Super Netball League. When they are interviewed after the game, the same line always comes out, "I couldn't do it without my team". Being a team sport, this is very true! A goal shooter can't do the goal keeper's job! Just the same as a guard in basketball can't do the job of a forward, or in AFL, a full forward isn't as skilled as a ruckman in jumping for a ball up... (I hope I have covered enough sports for everyone to understand!!)

I find that the same can apply to life. As a Christian, it is easier to go through life with other people to help out. The verse from Ecclesiastes is perfect for us to help see what God means when we work together. When there is more than just us, we can help each other. God didn't put us on earth alone. We were made to work together.

I hope that as you read this edition, you can see the amazing work that we can do as a community working together.

From Pastor Wayne...

Hi!

Well, Winter is coming to an end as I write this. I look forward to sunny days and plenty of time in the garden. But as well, let's not forget to pray for some rain, for our farmers and others, who desperately need rain for crops and gardens.

*The theme for this month's AT GLYNDE is "Teamwork", and it's based on the words of the writer of Ecclesiastes in the Old Testament where he comments: Two are better off than one, because together they can work more effectively. If one of them falls down, the other can help him up. But if someone is alone and falls, it's just too bad, because there is no one to help him (Ecclesiastes 4:9-10).

We are not alone. The wonderful news of the Good News of Jesus is that we are God's forgiven children through our baptism and our faith in Jesus as our Saviour. We are children of our Father in heaven, and "brothers and sisters" of one another (Galatians 3:26-4:7).

It has been pointed out that there are 59 "one another" passages in the New Testament. Each of these reminds us that we are not alone, as we struggle with the up's and down's of life. Listen to some of them: "love one another", "be devoted to one another in brotherly love", "serve one another in love", "carry one another's burdens", "encourage one another", and so on.

May God bless us as we love, and support, and encourage one another, and as together we work for our Lord whom we follow: in a life of loving service of others, and in life pointing others to God through Jesus our Saviour.

*Spring is coming, as I said above, and with it a whole lot of things that we are going to be doing together for the Lord....

*In worship, we will be continuing our sermon series on Favourite Old Testament stories. Henry Martinez and myself will be sharing with you messages based on these stories: on Daniel and the Lions' Den, the book of Job, the Exodus, and the story of Ruth.

On September 16th, we will have our next Church 4 Kids at the 10.30 a.m. service. This worship service is aimed at the children in our church family and in our mid-week ministries, but from now on it will also include a brief "Adult Talk" time, during which the children will be involved in an activity.

On the following Sunday, September 23rd, after our morning worship, we will hold a Blessing of Pets time under our gum tree, or in the hall if the weather is poor. After this, we will have a sausage sizzle for all comers, or something similar

*At the start of October, Helene Schulz and myself will head off to the General Synod of the LCA at Rosehill gardens in Rosehill, Sydney. There from 2-7 October, we will represent our congregation and our District respectively as we discuss matters of ministry and concern. The main topic on the agenda is the ordination of men and women. Please pray for our discussion and our decision making on this topic in particular.

While we are away, Pastor Dennis Obst will lead in worship on October 7th, and then the following week when I have a week's annual leave while our son Thomas is being married to Alysha Wurst, our part-time pastor, Pastor Henry Martinez, will take worship.

*Please mark off Sunday, 4th November in your diary: it is the date of our annual Picnic at "The Gums". Come along at 10.30 a.m. for a time of fellowship, worship, and fun.

*May God bless you and me as we love one another up and encourage one another in our faith, and as together we reach out into our community with the Good News of God's love, and His forgiveness through Jesus. May God bless us as we "reveal and celebrate God's love, so that all may know Jesus and worship God through him".

Church Teamwork...

Psalm 133:1 It is good and pleasant when God's people live together in peace!

The theme of this @Glynde provides wisdom for working together and helping each other when things are tough. Teamwork also means caring and guarding against exhaustion and burnout. There are many examples of teamwork in scripture and daily examples in our community. Just think of the major redevelopment project and the teamwork that required, think of the number of people who volunteer to enable our worship to reflect our faith in music, message and prayers; think of the faithful ministry and support that happens during the week here in opening our doors to all who come. Thank God for teamwork and thank God for the people who come together in teams to enable and grow the ministries and vision of our church.

One resource about building healthy and productive churches has a long list of desirable attributes, but these four stand out as being important and requiring constant attention.

1. Churches need healthy relationships between people
2. Responsibilities need to be wisely distributed
3. Teamwork needs a strategy - this includes working out who performs what roles and valuing every contribution
4. How does the church care for those who work as leaders within teams?

As we reflect on these aspects, let us be kind to each other, love each other warmly and welcome each other as special guests in God's presence.

News of the month

I have been away, and so have not caught up on all the matters faithfully attended to by our Board for Ministry team and our Executive team. Thank God for teamwork!

New YAGM volunteer: Haley Penk will commence with our church community from 3 September. She will be living with Helene Brown, and I hope you all welcome her to our church family with joy and enthusiasm. Haley will be working among us for 10 months (until July 2019). She comes from North Carolina and it will be wonderful to get to know her over the next few weeks.

Last week we farewelled Peter Kleinig, who has one of the longest terms of association with our church. Peter first came to Glynde when he was a young boy and has been a member here at various stages of his life. He has now shifted into a retirement village in Hahndorf - not so far away - we will miss him and we hope he will come back and visit us from time to time. We also had the sadness of the funeral for Dean Clarke who was a member of Glynde Lutheran Church for all of his life. Dean was born on 12 January 1934 and baptised in this church one month later by Pastor Albert Zweck. Pastor Zweck also confirmed Dean in 1947. He died on 8 August 2018. He was known for his care for others, his wicked sense of humour and his love of camping and the outdoors.

May God bless us all.

From our Cross Cultural

Last month I shared with you the story of our driver on our recent holiday in Sri Lanka.

There was another day when once again I was amazed at what God can do, and how special stories happen. After spending time travelling through beautiful national parks with amazing wildlife we headed toward Kandy, a city in the highlands of Sri Lanka. It is a busy and crowded city, where traffic moves very slowly.

In the centre of the city, near a lake along a long stretch of land covering 3 – 4 blocks is a Buddhist Temple, a Hindu temple and a Christian church. They are located in the royal palace complex of the former Kingdom of Kandy, and was completed in 1595.

In January 1998 some of you may remember there was a terrorist attack on the Buddhist temple (The temple of the Tooth). A group of Tamil Tigers drove a truck into the temple, blowing the front section apart and killing a number of people and injuring others.

The story told to us by our guide was that it was done to destroy the faith system of Kandy which is predominately Buddhist, and to turn the Hindu, Christian and Buddhists against one another, causing more unrest and giving the Tamil Tigers the opportunity to cause more destruction and destroy the unity of the country.

But God obviously had other plans! The Buddhist, Hindu and Christian communities united, and with government and public donations raised enough money to employ artisans to rebuild that temple in just 2 years.

The plan to destroy and control couldn't work against a united community. Isn't it amazing, when people work together what can happen.

That temple should have been in ruins, that city should have been divided, but, when people work together, even when their beliefs may be different, what a wonderful and even more powerful story follows. The strength of that united community, Buddhist, Hindu and Christian, like 3 cords in the rope, strengthening and supporting each other is hard to break...

When I look at our mid week church, I see people of all faiths and cultures... I see that we look different, behave differently, and believe differently.

But I know that God works in this place, just as he did in Sri Lanka.. We can be friends to others who may not believe like we do, or eat the way we do... but we can keep working together and guiding and leading others to Jesus. A smile, a touch, an encouraging word, honouring people is a great start.

And to everyone who helps and is a part of the Glynde "rope." Thank you for your help.

Thank you praying for Playgroup, Mainly Music, English classes, our Friday courses, coffee and Chat and for everyone who comes. Your prayers are wanted and needed.

Thank you to everyone who attended our Childsafe training in July and who are committed to finishing the remaining modules. We know it isn't easy to follow this through, but your love and caring for all who come here shows by doing this course.

Thank you to those who have attended extra workshops and keep finding new ways of progressing our teams. Thank you to you for coming along, for listening, for caring, for making coffee, washing dishes, baking, cleaning, preparing, setting up tables. Your willingness and love are another cord in that ever strengthening rope...

Thank you to those who have offered to help with our "babysitting night" in September. When we started our Marriage course this term, we soon learnt that many couples have never had any Marriage Time away from their children. Who can they leave their children with? Many have not had a meal alone with their husbands since their children were born. We are giving a couple of hours of babysitting so that they can go out together, and hopefully not talk about the children! What a gift we can give!

Thank you God for loving us so much, for leading and encouraging us to work together, for opening our hearts and minds to see others as you see them.

Thank you Lord that you strengthen the Glynde rope with more and more people being a part of this community. We pray that you will continue to guide us, weaving us together into a rope that loves and cares for those around us, all different, but strong when we are together.

I wonder what powerful stories will follow!

Celebrations @Glynde!

As always, we love sharing in the many celebrations around the Glynde community. Here are a few snapshots of some of the recent events and celebrations. This will be a regular segment, so if you have something to celebrate, please send us a photo so we can celebrate with you in the @Glynde.

The Women's Rally came and watched Mainly Music...

Then Barb, along with some mums from Mainly Music shared their stories with the women

IT WAS A BUSY DAY...

Thursday at the church is always a busy day. Mainly Music happens and there are so many people who make it happen, by setting up, cooking and preparing morning tea, presenting, looking after children, bringing out the toys, tidying up. It is a busy time and a fun time...

But, the other Thursday, (August 16th), was an even busier day.

The Lutheran Women's North Zone Rally was being held and hosted at Glynde, with around 50 women attending. A great effort by the women at Glynde for this day.

It was also my pleasure to be a guest speaker at the event, along with some of our families who come to our mid week groups.

What a delight it was that the women came into Mainly Music and watched part of our session. I am sure many would have gone away singing a song, maybe even "I like toast for breakfast!"

Once Mainly Music had broken up for morning tea the women left to start their session in the church and soon after we went to join them with some of our families from China, Sri Lanka, Japan, South Sudan and Japan. We shared what our week looks like here at Glynde and how important it is to be a part of this wider community. Our families spoke of what life was like in their homeland and how hard it is to fit into Australia, and how special a place like Glynde became in their lives. Some spoke timidly, some spoke with great insight and joy and for others, just managing to get the words out in English was a huge achievement. I thank them all for sharing their thoughts with a large group they didn't know. I also thank Glynde for supporting the work we do to love and care for others. It was a privilege us to be a part of the Women's Rally.

But, that wasn't all that was happening on Thursday!

Back in June, while I was on holiday, I arranged for a group from our mid week activities to be interviewed for a cross cultural video being put together by the Lutheran Church. Well, the film crew came back on this same Thursday to do some extra filming. So, it was such a busy place... people filming, people serving, people rushing from Mainly Music to the Womens Rally and back again!

Thank you to all the people who participated in the filming. Who knew we had so many talented people! And a huge thank you to Rika and Rumi who shared their stories. To do so for the whole Lutheran church took courage and to know that we have been a part of their story is very humbling. The cross cultural film will be shown at Synod and can also be found on the website. And look out, they have so much footage that there may be more segments put together for viewing.

Yes, it was a busy day at Glynde – but what a day!

It was a day of joy, a day of sharing, a day when we celebrated the joy of children.. a day to celebrate and appreciate other cultures, and the importance of a smile... a day to see Gods love shining brightly!

Barbara Mattiske

IT WAS A BUSY DAY...

Thank you for the privilege to speak at the Women's Rally on Thursday 16 August on the theme of 'Let the children come to me.' This was an incredible theme for a day like this, to gather together, edify one another and cherish the children in our lives and our community.

In my preparation for this talk, a quick Google search taught me that the words 'child,' 'child's' or 'children' are mentioned in the King James version of the Bible over two thousand times, third only to 'Lord' mentioned eight thousand, and 'God' mentioned four thousand times. This is very strong evidence of the importance and value of children in the Kingdom of God.

In fact, time and time again we are reminded that we are all children of God, purchased with the blood of Jesus and adopted into His forever family.

He walked with us and adopted us as His own. In a short sentence, this is the Gospel. It's pretty simple message, but when it comes to talking about family, it rarely feels simple.

Sometimes distance separates us. Sometimes differing beliefs, priorities and values divide us. Stress can paralyse us; disappointment can haunt us. Guilt makes us feel trapped and shame makes us hide. Throw in some financial hurdles, perhaps an unexpected injury or death, some deadlines at work, a couple of mistakes or a misunderstanding ... and the fortress of family that should have been our paradise, protecting us and holding it all together, begins to crumble.

We all fall short of the Glory of God. We fall short every day, and we fell short first a long time ago. Genesis is very clear about that.

Scripture doesn't say that the drug addicted mother falls short. It doesn't say that the abusive father falls short. It doesn't say that the violent man falls short. It doesn't say that the gambling alcoholic falls short. Romans 3:23 says for all have sinned and fall short. And this is the message that compels us to do the work that we do.

Parents who are unable to appropriately care for their children and keep them safe, for whatever reason, are not the enemy. They are people in need of a saviour, just like you and me. But children are dependant. They do need boundaries and security to learn and grow and develop. Children need to be provided for, and they are faithful that they will be provided for (or at least they certainly should be).

This is how God calls us to live, as children of God, we are to depend on God. We are to rely on Him for everything that we need. We are to be faithful that our father does have our best interests at heart and trusting, even though we may not fully understand the bigger picture. And it can be hard to understand the bigger picture, especially when we suddenly find ourselves called to a hard place.

Caring for vulnerable and traumatised children in an overwhelmed and under-resourced child protection system is a hard place. Yet, in the midst of the overwhelming, there is hope.

Just like there was a cost for Jesus, to adopt us into the Kingdom of God, there is a cost in fostering. But it costs the children so much more if we don't step into this hard place. God doesn't step away from hard places, in fact he meets people right in the midst of storm and brings peace. He never said this life would be easy, but He promises, in light of eternity, it will be worth it.

Nothing in foster care is really how it was supposed to be. But in a sense, foster care provides a picture of what it meant for Jesus to stand before God on our behalf.

On some level, this is what the scripture means when it refers to Jesus as our "advocate" (1 John) and "mediator" (1 Timothy). He stood for us when we couldn't stand on our own, spoke on our behalf when we had no words to speak. The battle has been fought for us. Jesus has won. Joy has prevailed in the midst of tragedy and heartache. We have been forever adopted into the family of God because of the work of Jesus on our behalf.

With Jesus as the Hero we are free from the need to bear the weight of redemption that only He was ever intended to carry. With Jesus as the Hero foster care is not simply a hopeless struggle but rather a vivid expression of a spiritual battle in which the victory of beauty will eventually triumph over the vices of brokenness. With Jesus as the Hero the struggles will be real for us but they do not have the power to defeat us; they will be heavy upon us but they do not have the power to break us; the Enemy will seek to destroy us but he will not have the power to prevail over us. This is the confidence upon which we intercede on behalf of these kids. This is the hope which steadies us even as the war rages on around us.

Excerpt from Re-Framing Foster Care by Jason Johnson.

At the rally, Leonie Scriven (an LCC Foster Carer) shared some tangible and practical ways that you can help foster carers and their families, supporting them in their journeys providing safety, care and nurture for young children. I will leave you with a few of these thoughts now.

A foster parent and the children in their care are not celebrated in the way an expecting mother is, when family and friends gather to provide practical gifts and offer their support. Think of how you could practically support a foster family that you know. Offer to baby sit or enquire about providing some respite care for a family. Often a foster carer puts their social life on hold because the children in care cannot always attend functions if feeling overwhelmed by crowds or loud noises.

Pray for foster carers, their families and all the children. Acknowledge foster carers and families and the work they do, and accept these precious children as the blessings from God that they are.

Thank you, Glynde congregation for your ongoing prayers, partnership and support for LCC Foster Care. Every little bit counts and it does make a difference.

Blessings,
Tessa Joppich

PICS FROM PAUL

Over the past 3 weeks during mid week activities we have enjoyed the company of extra people. The women from the Rally, the Lutheran church film crew, and also a photographer, Paul.

Paul and Lulu come to Mainly Music and our Friday English classes and Coffee and Chat. Paul offered to take photos as a thank you for how they have been welcomed to this Glynde community. They are originally from China.

So look out on our website, Sunday paper or @Glynde for new photos!

We thank Paul and Lulu for this great gift.
We are so amazed by what give to us by sharing.

INTERNATIONAL DAY OF CHARITY

As part of the United Nations 2030 Agenda on Sustainable Development, adopted in September 2015, the UN has recognized the importance of eradicating poverty in all forms. Poverty presents an enormous global challenge for the international community, as is a significant threat to sustainable development. In the spirit of global solidarity, the 2030 Agenda is focused on how best to meet the needs of the world's poorest and most vulnerable citizens and acknowledges the role that the private sector must play in supporting the various organizations who have undertaken philanthropic efforts to implement the 2030 Agenda.

Poverty exists in every country around the globe, from powerful industrial nations to developing countries. It continues to affect millions of people, regardless of their social and cultural situations, and is a barrier to true prosperity and equality.

In recognition of the significant role that charities and individuals have undertaken to alleviate human suffering and humanitarian crises, the UN General Assembly, under resolution A/RES/67/105PDF, has designated the 5th of September as the International Day of Charity. This date was chosen as it is the anniversary of the death of Mother Teresa, and the resolution is, in part, a tribute to her work and dedication to charitable causes.

This 5th of September, the United Nations invites all Member States, international and regional organisations, non-governmental organisations and individuals alike to commemorate the International Day of Charity by encouraging charitable acts in their respective communities to raise public awareness of this event.
